

P&G

P&G is a global consumer goods manufacturer present in over 70 countries. The subsidiary Procter & Gamble Manufacturing GmbH produces appliances such as Braun electric shavers and epilators.

With the "Instruction & Training" software world from iManSys, all necessary employee training activities can be created centrally in one system. The automatic assignment of training activities saves organisers an enormous amount of time. The web-based approach also enables employees to work through upcoming instruction and training regardless of time and location.
